Ecuadorians in Madrid-Araoeli Masterson-Algar 2016-04-08 In the decade between 1998-2008, Spain became the main destination for Ecuadorian migrants, and Madrid, Spain’s capital, became the city with the largest Ecuadorian population outside of Ecuador. Through a combination of ethnographic research and cultural analysis, this book addresses the interconnections between spatial practices, cultural production, and definitions of citizenship in migration dynamics between Ecuador and Spain, showing how Ecuadorians are key actors in Madrid’s recent urban history. Looking at the city as form and content, constitutive and constituting of ideological processes, each chapter analyzes the spatial practices of Madrid’s Ecuadorian residents through various forms: the body, the home, public and leisure spaces, the city, the nation, and transnational circuits. Rather than addressing migrants as a general human type marked by (dis)placement, each chapter offers an illustration of how Ecuadorian migrants forge transnational processes through their everyday lives in specific time and place, and how these processes manifest culturally on both sides of the Atlantic.

Clinica Manual de Implant Dentistry-Mithridade Davarpanah 2002-12-31 Provides practitioners and students with all the scientific and clinical data necessary to understand implant dentistry. Intended for practical and didactic use, it includes numerous color photographs and diagrams to illustrate the various surgical techniques routinely needed in practice. Specific treatment procedures, including immediate implant placement and guided bone regeneration, are carefully detailed. Also addressed are surgical and prosthetic considerations for each type of dentulism, a classification for treatment in posterior regions, and the nonsubmerged implant concept. The authors also discuss surface properties and early loading and offer innovative ideas for treating young patients. Capacity for Development-Sakiko Fukuda-Parr 2002 Leading experts consider how development programs can increase the levels of knowledge, skill, technical know-how and productive capacity of populations in the South. The volume is organized into three parts on ownership, institutional capital and knowledge networks. The result shows how, in future productivity, capacity development through technical cooperation can be successfully pursued. Contributors include Sunil Chako, Steve Denning, Sakiko Fukuda-Parr 2002-12-31

Dyslexia-Valéria Csépe 2012 This volume addresses the question of how different brain activity measures may help to understand the complexity of language specific and domain general functions underlying reading, how atypical brain structures may be responsible for failures in the reading performance, and how these processes manifest culturally on both sides of the Atlantic.
activity pattern of dyslexics may change from childhood to adulthood. It is a valuable resource for those working in the fields of psycholinguistics, speech pathology, neuropsychology, cognitive development, educational psychology, developmental psychology, child development and child acquisition.

Individualism, Holism and the Central Dilemma of Sociological Theory-Jiří Šubrt 2015-09-15 This book examines individualism and holism, the two interpretive perspectives that have divided sociological theory into two camps, examines attempts to overcome this antimony and sets out a new approach to resolving this dilemma via ‘critical reconfiguration’.

Catastrophic Risks: No Turning Back - J. A. Posner 2004-11-11 Catastrophic risks are much greater than is commonly appreciated. Collision with an asteroid, runaway global warming, voraciously replicating nanomachines, a pandemic of gene-spliced smallpox launched by bioterrorists, and a world-ending accident in a high-energy particle accelerator, are among the possible extinction events that seem unlikely to warrant careful study. How should we respond to events that, for a variety of psychological and cultural reasons, we find it hard to wrap our minds around? Posner argues that realism about science and scientists, innovative applications of cost-benefit analysis, a scientific understanding of the unprecedented risks we face, and a pragmatic attitude toward civil liberties are among the keys to coping effectively with the catastrophic risks.

Mine Planning and Equipment Selection-Carsten Drebenstedt 2013-10-16 This edited volume includes all papers presented at the 22nd International Conference on Mine Planning and Equipment Selection (MPES), Dresden, Germany, 2013. Mineral Resources are needed for almost all processes of modern life, whilst the mining industry is facing strict requirements regarding efficiency and sustainability. The research papers in this volume deal with the latest developments and research results in the fields of mining, machining, automatization and environment protection.

Won’t You Be My Neighbor?-Camille Zubrinsky Charles 2006-10-19 Los Angeles is a city of delicate racial and ethnic balance. As evidenced by the 1965 Watts violence, the 1992 Rodney King riots, and this year’s award-winning film Crash, the city’s myriad racial groups coexist uneasy together, often on the brink of confrontation. In fact, Los Angeles is highly segregated, with racial and ethnic groups clustered in homogeneous neighborhoods. These residential groupings have profound effects on the economic well-being and quality of life of residents, dictating which jobs they can access, which social networks they can tap in to, and which schools they attend. In Won’t You Be My Neighbor?, sociologist Camille Zubrinsky Charles explores how modern racial attitudes shape, and are shaped by, the places where we live.

Adapted Physical Education and Sport-Joseph P. Winnick 2000 “Adapted Physical Education and Sport, Fourth Edition, prepares readers to provide services in the most included setting for each individual. Global Cities at Work draws on testimony collected from more than 800 foreign-born workers employed in low-paid jobs in London during the early years of the new economy. Global Cities at Work breaks new ground in linking London’s new migrant division of labor to the twin processes of subcontracting and increased international migration that have been central to contemporary processes of globalization. Global Cities at Work raises the level of debate about migrant labor, encouraging policy-makers, journalists and social scientists to look behind the headlines. The book calls us to take a politically-informed geographical view of our urban labor markets and to prioritize the issue of working poverty and its implications for both unemployment and community cohesion.

Textbook of Community Psychiatry-Graham Thornicroft 2001 In recent years the practice of psychiatry has changed fundamentally. Mentally ill people have been moved out of the large institutions, with their clear structures and hierarchies, and into the community. This shift has required the development of new service structures, new facilities, new attitudes and new professional relationships. This book provides the first authoritative, international review of community psychiatry, taking into consideration theoretical as well as clinical values and implications.

Embodied Wisdom gives readers the opportunity to deepen their understanding of the scientific and philosophical bases of Feldenkrais. As a scientist, Moshe Feldenkrais dedicated his life to the scientific study of human movement. Among his many accomplishments is the development of a new methodology for the study of human movement, called ‘Embodied Movement’. This methodology is based on the idea that learning to move better can improve anyone’s overall health on many levels.

Environmental Governance-Arild Vatn 2015-12-18 In this innovative book, Arild Vatn presents an overview of the field of environmental governance, from its theoretical foundations, to the major issues and practical applications. While having an interdisciplinary orientation, the main theoretical basis is in institutional theory. The book spans issues from the global to the local level and puts environmental governance within the wider field of economic policy and development. This book is perfect for interdisciplinary masters programs in environmental studies, environmental policy and management, as well as being of value to practitioners in the field.

World at Risk-Ulrich Beck 2013-10-29 Twenty years ago Ulrich Beck published Risk Society, a book that called our attention to the dangers of environmental catastrophes and changed the way we think about contemporary societies. During the last two decades, the dangers highlighted by Beck have taken on new forms and assumed greater significance. Terrorism has shifted to a global arena, financial crises have produced worldwide consequences that are difficult to control and politicians have been forced to accept that climate change is not idle speculation. In short, we have come to see that today we live in a world at risk. A new feature of our world risk society is that risk is produced for political gain. This political use of risk means that fear creeps into modern life. A need for security encroaches on our liberty and our view of equality. However, Beck is anything but an alarmist and believes that the anticipation of catastrophe can fundamentally change global politics. We have the opportunity today to reconfigure power in terms of what Beck calls a ‘cosmopolitan material politics’. World at Risk is a timely and far-reaching analysis of the structural dynamics of the modern world, the global nature of risk and the future of global politics by one of the most original and exciting social thinkers writing today.

Sociology for Social Work-1997-11-11 Metaphors of Memory-Douwe Draaisma 2000-12-07 First published in 2000, this book explores the metaphors used by philosophers and psychologists to understand memory over the centuries.

Spectral Properties of Noncommuting Operators-Brian R. Jefferies 2004-04-30 Forming functions of operators is a basic task of many areas of linear analysis and quantum physics. Weyl’s functional calculus, initially applied to the position and momentum operators of quantum mechanics, also makes sense for finite systems of selfadjoint operators. By using the Cauchy integral formula available from Clifford analysis, the book examines how functions of a finite collection of operators can be formed when the Weyl calculus is not defined. The technique is applied to the determination of the support of the fundamental solution of a symmetric hyperbolic system of partial differential equations and to proving the boundedness of the Cauchy integral operator on a Lipschitz surface.

Adapted Physical Activity, Recreation, and Sport-Claudine Sherrill 2004 Offering the most comprehensive coverage available and broadening the audience scope to include students majoring in exercise science or coaching who are preparing for nonteaching positions, this new edition features a lifespan, cross-disciplinary approach valuable for both teaching and non-teaching professionals. Adapted Physical Activity, Recreation, and Sport emphasizes attitude change, inclusion, and psychosocial perspectives for understanding individual differences.

The White Man's Burden-William Easterly 2006 Argues that western foreign aid efforts have done little to stem global poverty, citing how such organizations as the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank are not held accountable for ineffective practices that the author believes intrude into the inner workings of other countries. By the author of The Elusive Quest for Growth. 60,000 first printing.

The Freedom of Morality-Chrēstos Giannaras 1984 An inquiry into the criteria and presuppositions which enable us to confront moral problems. It highlights Christian morality primarily in terms of persons in their freedom and mutual relationships rather than in juridical terms.

In Search of Central Europe-George Schöpflin 1989 This timely volume charts the discussions and debates which have led to the rediscovery of “Central Europe” within the political cultures of Eastern and Western Europe alike. From various historical, economic, cultural and political perspectives, the volume’s contributors offer an appraisal of the distinctive features of a Central European identity and its relevance to contemporary European thought and politics. Contents: Central Europe: Definitions Old and New; What is Europe, Where is Europe? From Mystique to Politique; The Meaning of the Social Evolution of Europe; Central Europe: A Historical Region in Modern Times: A Contribution to the Debate About the Regions of Europe; Intellectuals in East-Central Europe: Change; We, Central-European East Europeans; The European Ideal: Reality or Wishful Thinking in Eastern-Central Europe?; Central European Attitudes; Central European Writers About Central Europe: Continuity and Change; Central-European East Europeans; The European Ideal: Reality or Wishful Thinking in Eastern-Central Europe?; Central European Attitudes; Central European Writers About Central Europe: Introduction to a Non-Existant Book of Readings: Milan Kundera’s Lament; Central Europe: What Is It and What It Is Not; Another Civilization?
